Dr. Extrem:—My wife has been affilied with a bad cough and difficulty of breathing, for five or six years, which, for several years back, had gradually increased in rolence. The complaint has been hereditary, and she had been treated by several physicians without any relief. In this state of her case, I procured some of your Poeloral Cough Syrup. I bought, the first time, a fifty cent bottle, which relieved her very much I then called and got a deliar bottle, which cured her entirely, and she has now no trace of the former disease, except weakness. I would also state that I used the medicine my self to a cold and cough. The medicine cured me by taking one dose I express my entire satisfaction with the medicine, and you are at liberty to publish this if you desire to do so.

"An English gentleman, formerly connected with the British Army, and who styles himself the 'Indian Botanic Physician,' has of late gained an extensive reputation here by his skill in curing all manner of complaints. Some of his patients I have conversed with and they pronounce his remedies and mode of treatmen as very superior. Some have been restored as if hy magic. The medicine he uses is distilled by himself from various herbs possessing rare curative properties." "While acting in the army he devoted his leisure meents to a thorough study of the effects produced by certain medicinal roots and herbs on all manner of discases. It seems he has found a sure and speedy remed up for all the 'Ills that flesh is heir to.' His practice already extensive and is daily increasing.
